

Logicalis are experts in deploying and managing secure, converged infrastructure.

Logicalis provides secure network, storage and compute solutions based on VMware, Cisco and EMC technology. We follow a “life-cycle” approach to provide customers with a consistent, repeatable framework from planning and design through to implementation and ongoing support and management.

Our approach is founded on the belief that the “network” and “compute” platforms are rapidly integrating and require a consolidated architecture that embraces storage, security, compute and IP networking to provide a single, scalable platform. We can help you to transform your business processes with collaboration. Or to deliver proven, low risk managed virtual infrastructure solutions and a roadmap to private cloud computing.

At the heart of our solutions is nVisage, an infrastructure management application delivered through a Software as a Service (SaaS) model. Developed over the past twelve years, it underpins a unique approach to supporting and managing IT infrastructure. This enables customers to gain visibility into the IT environment, reduce support costs by 20-50% and to adopt a strategic rather than operational focus.

In a world of increasing technology complexity, we focus on building a roadmap that addresses fundamental organisational challenges...

- Is the existing infrastructure capable of delivering the performance, availability, capacity and security to deliver new and existing service requirements?
- Are there adequate skill sets in house to support new and existing requirements?
- Are risk mitigation strategies and policies in place to minimise and promptly respond to loss of service to protect the business?
- How can IT deliver improved services and enable increased staff productivity?

Our value to customers is built on:

- Deep experience and expertise across networking, unified communications and collaboration and data centre technologies
- Effective solutions that address business needs
- Flexibility in our customer engagement
- A partnership approach
- Managed services and support offerings that reduce risk and cost.
